

SENTENCE OF DRAFT RESISTERS IS UPHELD

Eight Members of Working Class Union Must Serve Six-Year Term in Prison.

DECISION BY JUDGE HOOK

Case WasAppealed from Pottawatomie County, Where Judge Cole Prosecuted.

Affirming the judgments and sentences of the district court of Eastern Oklahoma, pronounced by Judge J. H. Cottrell against Clure Isenhour, one Isenhour and six other defendants, who were sentenced to serve six years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth on the charge of conspiracy to resist the draft laws of the United States, an opinion was rendered by Judge Hook, of the United States circuit court of appeals at St. Louis Wednesday wherein the Oklahoma court was sustained in its original decision.

Notice of the decision was received in this city Thursday by Judge Redmond S. Cole of the Tulsa county district court, formerly assistant United States district attorney, who argued the government's case before Judge Hook in St. Louis last December.

This prosecution for conspiracy to resist the draft, one of the first cases of magnitude to be tried in the United States, was held in Enid in 1918, the government's case being in charge of John Fain, United States district attorney, and Redmond S. Cole at that time an assistant district attorney.

Isenhour and seven other defendants, residents of Brown school district, Pottawatomie county, Oklahoma, were found guilty before the federal court of making preparations to resist with arms any attempt of the government to draft men into the army service.

It was shown at the trial that the conspirators were members of the

FILM REGISTER AT THE MAJESTIC

Notable Names in Big Cast, "Heart of Humanity," at Tulsa Theater.

The cast of Dorothy Phillips' new superfilm, directed by Allen Holubar, reads like a "Who's Who in Filmdom." Here are a few of the prominent members of the personnel:

William Stowell, star in many Universal special productions, chief in support of Dorothy Phillips in "The Talk of the Town," "Destry" and other sentimentally successful features.

Walt Whitman, dean of screen character performers, featured in numerous Ince and Triangle pictures.

Robert Anderson, he of the endearing smile and "Hearts of the World" fame—the Monsieur Cuckoo of the Griffith film and the Paul in "The Heart of Humanity."

Bill Hart, noted Australian actor, who has been before the public on the legitimate stage in support of Cyril Maude.

George Hackathorn, the popular baseball, who has been featured with Lasky, Griffith and Ince.

Little Gloria Joy, the child star who has risen to a prominent position in filmdom as the result of her own remarkable histrioic merits.

Margaret Mann, Allen Holubar's discovery and, according to Director Holubar, "the ideal screen mother."

Dorothy Phillips, the juvenile, who plays Juliet and, of course, Miss Phillips' half-sister, "The Girl Nasimova."

She was then only sixteen and since has developed into one of the most noted film luminaries and, justly, has been called the "unparalleled" emotional actress of the cinema." Miss Phillips plays an exacting and exalting role in "The Heart of Humanity."

and made of Nanette a character of immortal significance in screen history.—"The Heart of Humanity" will come to the Majestic theater on Sunday for four days—Adv.

BROADWAY

One of the largest mid-week events of the year witnessed the musical comedy production, "The Man From Sand Springs," at the Broadway Saturday afternoon.

It is one of the funniest comedies ever staged in this theatre and Tulsans were pleased with the various comedy sayings and individual musical hits.

George Clark as the newly married Colonel Bowser and a magnificently dressed up at that made his equal in the show.

In fact, the whole thing is a mirthful atmosphere proposition.

Marie Malone announced herself creditably in the role of Mrs. Bowser.

Danny Duncan as Meekman, the bony friend of Bowser, and Dot Kress as Mrs. Meekman were very clever, indeed.

Other roles were ably taken by Miss Colson, George Grump and Harry Cheshire.

"The Man From Sand Springs." The musical program embraced clever numbers by the Belmont quartette, Ross Keene, Miss Colson, Marie Maine, Danny Duncan, Andy Dunn, with his dancing chorus and Harry Cheshire.

Today's bill starts at 1 o'clock with pictures; vaudeville acts follow. Week day matines 15 cents; nights and Sundays 30 cents. Don't miss it today. Come early.—Adv.
